

OHIO ACCEPTS BANK ACT IN GOOD SPIRIT

Council to Study Solution of Payroll Problem, Due Today

RAILROAD TO PAY

New Deposits, Co-Operation Are Reported

Circleville, and in fact all Ohio, continued today to face with "heads up" the situation resulting from the use of restricted bank deposits withdrawal plans. Only 5 per cent is allowed in most places. The situation was accepted with good nature and a spirit of co-operation that inspired hopefulness of an early end to the handicap.

A. C. Krug, deputy state banking superintendent, in a statement Wednesday said: "Conditions affecting the banking situation throughout the state are quieting down generally. It is impossible to estimate how long it will be advisable for the various banks to remain under regulated policies. It is hoped, however, that a week or 10 days will suffice. The Ohio situation," Krug pointed out, "is contingent upon the adjustment of the banking situation throughout the rest of the country."

MANY NEW DEPOSITS
One of the most optimistic notes in the new state of affairs was the report of Cleveland bankers that thousands of new accounts have been opened under the segregated deposit rule as provided by the state's banking laws. A number of new deposits were made by local banks.

City council is expected to discuss the problem of meeting its payroll this evening. Miss Lilian Young, auditor, disclosed Wednesday that the payroll of $10,184 which was due Wednesday cannot be met. Money can be drawn by the city only in the amount of 5 per cent on deposit and that would not come near meeting the entire payroll, Miss Young declared.

Included in the list who will not receive salaries according to schedule are Mayor, treasurer, auditor, solicitor, firemen, policemen, janitors and others.

RAILROAD MOVES

A new bright ray was seen when Norfolk & Western railroad officials announced that checks on that company can be cashed at the railroad's depository, the Huntington National Bank in Columbus. A number of residents of this city will be able to cash their checks in this manner. Employees in Portsmouth can get their checks cashed at the depository in that city.

Local utilities are adopting similar means in handling checks. The Ohio Fuel Co. will accept checks for gas bills and will allow the discount, if paid within the correct date. Special receipts will be given. The Citizens Telephone Co. will accept checks on Circleville banks for phone bills, and the Southern Ohio Electric Co. will use a system similar to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Harry C. Denman, manager of the local water works office, declared Wednesday that he had received orders to accept no checks for water bills.

Approximately 50 state highway department employees are uncertain concerning their pay which is due March 5.

Whether or not the city's school teachers, 42 in number, receive their checks or March 13 depends upon later developments.

USE NEW BOOKS

The statute ordering segregation of new deposits caused several local banks to install a second complete set of books.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 1.—Gov. Ruby Laffoon, after an all night conference with leading bankers of the state, issued a proclamation today declaring a four day banking holiday throughout Kentucky. The proclamation becomes effective today.

Gov. Laffoon's action, it was announced, was taken as a precautionary measure to prevent the possible drain on Kentucky banks which might result from the temporary suspension of banking business in Cincinnati and surrounding territory yesterday.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 1.—A banking holiday for Tennessee, to remain in effect until next Monday, was proclaimed early today by Governor Hill McAlister.

McAlister took the step suddenly at 2 a. m. this morning after, he said, he was informed "banks were in need."

The holiday was announced during a banquet given in the governor's honor by the Chattanooga Press club.

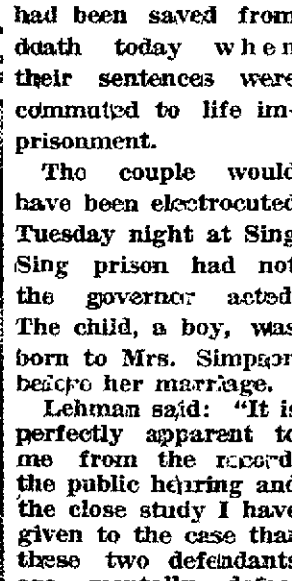

DAYTON, March 1.—After two days of what was to have been a three-day holiday, Dayton's four banks reopened today following the policy of other banks throughout

CONVICTED WOMAN, MAN SAVED FROM CHAIR BY LEHMAN

ALBANY, N. Y., March 1.—Mary Fields Simpson, 22, and her husband, R. J. Simpson, 29, convicted of slaying her 1-year-old child,

Mrs. Mary Simpson

had been saved from death today when their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment.

The couple would have been electrocuted Tuesday night at Sing Sing prison had not the governor acted. The child, a boy, was born to Mrs. Simpson before her marriage. Lehman said: "It is perfectly apparent to me from the record, the public hearing and the close study I have given to the case that these two defendants are mentally defective."

Had Mrs. Simpson gone to her death in the electric chair she would have been the fourth woman in New York state history to have died that way.

Japanese Take Strategic Post

TOKYO, March 1.—Defying bullets, snow and sub-zero gales, Japanese troops today captured Chinfeng, northern terminus of the Chinese battle-line defending Jehol City.

Occupation of the important stronghold followed a bitter battle, and placed the invaders in a strategic position for subjection of the entire province of Jehol.

Capture of Chinfeng was signalized by the reported announcement of General Shi Wen-Hua, Chinese commander there, of his submission to the government of Manchukuo, which aims to annex Jehol province to its Manchurian domain.

GOAL FEARED NEAR
Indicating capture of their ultimate goal, Jehol City (Chengteh), capital of the province, may be only a matter of days, Japanese troops also occupied Tachangte, another Chinese outpost west of the main defense line.

To word of the Japanese successes was added a report from Mukden stating 107 wounded Japanese arrived there exhibiting signs of poison gas.

This led to a Japanese charge that Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, Chinese commander in the north, had purchased gas from Germany and distributed it among the Chinese troops under General Fan Chan-Hsi in January.

Capture of Chinfeng was accomplished by Major General Mogi's fourth cavalry brigade, and placed Japanese-Manchukuo troops in possession of more than half of Jehol province.

Fall of the city was regarded as one of the most important triumphs for the Japanese in the Jehol campaign to date, since it broke the Chinese defense line that has offered stubborn resistance to the Japanese advance for nearly a week.

MALT TAX LOOMS
COLUMBUS, March 1.—First victory in the controversy over proposed nuisance taxes belonged to Governor George White today after malt manufacturers gave their approval last night to his plan to levy a state tax on malt.

Two Cincinnati, A. G. Reisenberg of the Ohio Malt Dealers' association, and W. J. Huster, of the National Malt Manufacturing association, declared that the malt industry will not protest against paying a tax.

Demand was made by Reisenberg and Huster, however, for a reduction of the proposed tax from 5 cents to 2 cents a pound. The high tax asked by the governor would cut down malt sales to such a low level that little revenue would be raised, they said.

"STEAM SHOVEL" ASSAULT NAMED IN WIFE'S SUIT
CHICAGO, March 1.—Mrs. Rose McGowan brought suit for divorce today against Joseph McGowan, listing an assault with a steam shovel as the basis of a cruelty charge.

When she visited him at the excavation where he was operating his steam shovel, the bill relates, Mrs. McGowan asked her husband for his pay check. He became angered and hoisted her into the air in the shovel bucket from which she leaped several feet to the ground, Mrs. McGowan charged.

Ex-Madison-co Solon Jailed; Hit Bus Here

Robert Rea, 43, of London, Pays $100 and Costs to Mayor B. T. Hedges

NO ONE INJURED

Two Loaded Busses Figure in Collision

Robert Rea, 43, prominent London man and a former Republican representative in the general assembly, paid a fine of $100 and costs to Mayor B. T. Hedges, Wednesday morning, when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Rea was arrested about 4 p. m. Tuesday by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Sheriff Bob Armstrong after the Dodge coal-truck he was driving crashed against the rear end of a Wayne-two school bus driven west on the W. Main-st bridge over the Scioto river.

The man created quite a disturbance after the collision and allegedly threatened to strike several persons who intervened.

HITS SECOND BUS

The force of the impact between the Dodge truck and the school bus forced the bus against another Wayne-two school bus driven by Oscar Reynolds. Neither of the busses were badly damaged and both were being used Wednesday.

The busses were returning the 26 Wayne-two high school pupils who attend school in this city to their homes.

Rea spent the night in the county jail.

The man served in the Ohio general assembly until three years ago when Representative Bostwick took office.

A man named Beery, with Rea, was not intoxicated, according to officers.

Shooting Negro Captured; Fear Lynch Attempt

Tear Gas Bombs Bring Surrender of Man To East Coast Posse.

CENTERVILLE, Md., March 1.—An old time manhunt ended near here today as Harry Branch, a heavily armed negro, capitulated to the terror of tear gas bombs and surrendered to a posse of several hundred eastern shore men, including a company of National guards.

Following his capture, Branch was lodged in the jail here, and the sheriff's deputies augmented by the National guardsmen to prevent lynching.

Branch has been hunted since Sunday when he fled into the woods after shooting a negro woman. During the manhunt, he shot and wounded Frank Brower, formerly a ballplayer of the Baltimore Orioles of the International league. Brower's wounds are not serious.

After escaping into the woods Branch eluded searchers but kept near the home of Andy Brooks, a negro woman, where he barricaded himself last night before making his stand at the Brooks home at the edge of a swamp. Branch twice shot his way to freedom, by the aid of a shotgun and smaller firearms.

HOUSE APPROVES HIGHWAY PATROL
COLUMBUS, March 1.—The half-Democratic and half-Republican state senate today held the fate of Governor George White's two-point program for strict enforcement of Ohio highway laws.

By a vote of 38 to 35, the House of Representatives yesterday passed the McNamara bill to establish a highway patrol of 60 men, and sent it to the Senate where action is already awaited on a companion bill to transfer the bureau of motor vehicles from the secretary of state to the highway department.

FEAR WAR AS HITLER FORCE JAILS CROWDS

40,000 Special Railroad Guards Called Out for Immediate Action

RAID COMMUNISTS

Opposition Newspapers Banned by Nazis

BERLIN, March 1.—To cope with Civil War threatening as a result of President Von Hindenburg's sweeping anti-Communist decree, 40,000 special railway guards were ordered to hold themselves in readiness for immediate mobilization today.

Meanwhile, Nazi storm troops and steel helmets cooperated with regular police in scores of cities in carrying out wholesale raids on Communist headquarters, clubs and gathering places in Prussia, Thuringia, Hamburg, Hesse, Saxony and parts of Bavaria.

THOUSANDS JAILED

Thousand of Communists were arrested even without the formality of court warrants.

State governments throughout the Reich cooperated to the fullest degree in supporting enforcement of the presidential decree, which suspends all constitutional articles guaranteeing private property and personal liberty.

Police in Hamburg were placed on an alarm footing following the seizure of Communist posters and leaflets.

An indication that the decree will meet opposition outside Prussia was seen in the fact that the Socialist newspaper Volkszeitung of Dresden defiantly appeared on the streets and the assertion of a government spokesman that the Socialist press was banned forever.

Copies of the paper were received by Berlin-subscribers of the banned and padlocked Socialist news organ Vorwaerts.

Indicating trouble may lie ahead, the Volkszeitung carried a vehement anti-Hitler article under a streamer headline which blared: "Madman or Provocateur?"

FIRE CAUSES IRE
The headline was an obvious reference to wild rumors that Hitler himself may know as much about the origin of the Reichstag

BANDITS ROB KANSAS BANKS

One Group Kidnaps Five Customers, Other Shoots Bank Official.

CHANUTE, Kan., March 1.—The Bank of Chanutte was robbed of an undetermined amount of cash today by bandits who outwitted police summoned to the scene by shielding themselves with fire.

The customers later were ejected from the bank and four miles from Chanutte. A posse aided by an airplane was in pursuit of the robbers.

In talking the police the bandits forced their hostages to form a circle around them as they walked to their car with the bank loot.

As they sped away the bandits sprayed the entrance to the bank with machine gun fire. No one was injured.

EMPORIA, Kan., March 1.—A bank robbery staged in real wild west fashion with the bandits "whooping and shooting" resulted in the wounding and capture of one of four masked desperadoes who looted the Citizens National bank of an undetermined amount of cash today.

The other bandits escaped in an automobile amid a fusillade of shots fired by police who were summoned to the scene by the bank's burglar alarm, set off by an employee after the thugs had shot down and critically wounded H. A. Lord, the assistant cashier.

Two other children Pauline, 5, and Esther, 1, were saved by the mother but she was trapped in the flaming four room cottage when she reentered it in a futile effort to rescue the others.

The fire started from a wood stove which had been left burning when the mother and children retired for the night. The father, a cotton mill worker, was away at work when the blaze started.

GREEN ANGERED BY ROOSEVELT CHOICE

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Selection of Miss Frances Perkins as Secretary of Labor in the Roosevelt cabinet was bitterly criticized today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

He said Miss Perkins "does not qualify for the post since she neither represents labor, understands its problems nor enjoys its confidence."

OHIO TO VOTE ON DRY LAWS NOVEMBER 13

Last-Ditch Fighting Over Entire State Looms After Vote

WETS JUBILANT

Margin in House, Tuesday, Two Votes

COLUMBUS, March 1.—Elated over the greatest wet triumph in Ohio in 15 years, anti-prohibition leaders throughout the state today girded for months of bitter last-ditch fighting to win state prohibition repeal at the general election next November 13.

The final fate of the state's prolonged wet-dry fight was placed in the hands of the voters of Ohio yesterday when the state house of representatives voted 83 to 47 for the Smolka-McCoy resolution, providing for a referendum.

The House action made a referendum mandatory, as the senate had approved the resolution last week by a vote of 22 to 9. The signature of Governor George White is not needed to make the referendum effective.

MARGIN TWO VOTES

The margin of victory for the resolution in the house last night was two votes. Eighty-one votes were required and the wet victory was assured when 14 erstwhile dries switched from their previous stand.

A potent factor in the wet legislative victory was believed to have been the recent action of Congress in submitting the question of federal repeal to the states. Several legislators who had opposed any state step against repeal, relented in the face of the congressional action.

Crushed by the wet vote, legislative dry leaders today indicated they would not consider the possibility of asking for reconsideration of the Smolka-McCoy resolution—the usual come-back method.

ADMIT DEFEAT

"It was a clear-cut fight and I am satisfied with the result," asserted Rep. R. A. Pollock (R.) of Canton, who took the floor during the debate yesterday, along with Rep. J. Freer Bittinger (D.) of Ashland, to defend the dries.

Wets can remove the prohibition amendment from the state constitution by a bare majority vote. It would be repealed at once, as a proposal to delay effectiveness pending federal action was defeated yesterday by a vote of 73 to 53.

The Bible, mother-love, poetry and economy were used as weapons by the dries in a colorful oratorical effort to avert adoption of the resolution. Wets restored to personal attacks.

When it was seen that 83 affirmative votes had been cast—two more than the required three-fifths—a ringing cheer went up from wet leaders and quickly spread to the galleries.

14 CHANGE PLANS
The 14 representatives who left the strictly dry ranks and made it possible to adopt the resolution were Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin (R.) of East Liverpool, James A. Glenn (R.) of Coshocton, Julius W. Headington (D.) of Mt. Vernon, Edward F. Lauer (D.) of Marion, William M. McCulloch (R.) of Piqua, Oakley Spaght (D.) of Akron, O. W. Whitner (D.) of Delaware, Ralph W. Wilkins (R.) of Painesville, Grant P. Ward (R.) and Myron B. Gessaman (R.), both of Columbus, Raymond G. Ingerson (R.) of Warren, E. J. Mildren (D.) of Marietta, P. H. Rogers (R.) of Lorain and Richard S. Douglas (D.) of Cleveland.

Launching the debate for the dries, Representative Bittinger read an appeal against the resolution which was signed by "The Men's Bible Class of the Ashland, O. Church of Christ." Then he added:

"I first wish to state to this membership that I have no affiliation with the Anti-Saloon League and have not consulted with it."

Smith Supports Works Program

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The movement for a vast public works program to restore prosperity in America received new impetus on Capitol hill today as a result of the powerful endorsement by former Governor Al Smith of New York.

Senator LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin, a leading senate advocate of a $5,000,000,000 federal bond issue for public works, declared:

"I am very hopeful Gov. Smith's eloquent plea for a huge construction bond issue will be of great help in putting the needed legislation through Congress early to the Roosevelt administration."

"I agree with his statement that the deflation and the decline of earning power can be checked only by positive remedial action involving public works on a very large scale."

"The essence of this program is its size and its timing."

"We've been riding the tail of this avalanche instead of fighting out in front."

ON COMMITTEE

LaFollette is a member of the senate finance committee before which Smith appeared to place the stamp of his rugged personality upon the "prosperity hearings."

"I don't agree with some of the governor's recommendations," said the senator—"particularly his advocacy of a manufacturers' sales tax."

Other senators more favorable to this form of taxation asserted, however, their position had been strengthened greatly by Smith's outspoken support of a manufacturers' levy.

The Smith plan for a unified carrier system operated under direction of a new cabinet member, a secretary of transportation, created intense interest but senatorial comment was guarded.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho was pleased at the former governor's advocacy of early Russian recognition by the United States Government.

"Gov. Smith made a very splendid and courageous presentation," said Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi, who is scheduled to take over the chairmanship of the finance committee after March 4. "He was a frank and very fine witness."

The hearing were recessed until after inauguration.

ficials of that organization about this controversy.

"However, a number of members of this house, I included, have promised that nothing will be done about this resolution until federal action toward repeal has been taken."

"Think of economy. Would you have the state pay $500,000 to circulate Ohio on an amendment when hundreds are crying for bread?"

LAUDS W. C. T. U.

Bittinger also lauded the work of the W. C. T. U. and read a poem in praise of prohibition. He was immediately attacked by Rep. Keith Lawrence (D) of Cleveland, wet spokesman.

"In two terms," declared Lawrence, "Mr. Bittinger has been a wet to the wets and a dry to the dries, and at last we have found out he is a dry at heart."

When Representative Pollock accused him of indulging in personalities, Lawrence retorted:

"I don't know any member of this house who indulges in more personalities, boasts more of his experience, and makes more mistakes than Mr. Pollock."

Pollock said he opposed the referendum only because it was arranged by the legislature.

"I have always thought a referendum, if necessary, should be brought about by petition, as has been done seven times before," he argued.

Secretary of State George S. Myers will promptly prepare the form of the question which will be placed on the November ballots. Approval by the governor is not necessary in the adoption of resolutions, and Governor George White will have no part in the prohibition referendum.

Drys stated their confidence today that the referendum will result in defeat of the proposed repeal. Rep. W. D. Dittmars (D), of Holmesville, declared that the referendum will prove the dries contention that the state does not wish to overthrow prohibition.

Mrs. George Thurn Answers Cooking School Requests

Dear Friends in Circleville: A request from one of you is for a good but simple recipe for chocolate cornstarch pudding. Here it is, with some suggested variations which will please the family, and cost you but little more time or trouble.

CORNSTARCH PUDDING
Use four cups of milk; one cup sugar; two thirds cup cocoa; six tablespoons cornstarch; one half teaspoon salt; one and one half teaspoons vanilla, flavoring; one and one half cups of the sauce with which it is to be served (either chocolate sauce or thick cream having a little maple syrup beaten in it, is delicious). Moisten the cornstarch to a smooth paste in one cup of the milk. Scald the rest of the milk in the top of a double boiler and add the sugar and cocoa mixed together, stirring all the time, then the salt, and the cornstarch mixture, stirring and cooking constantly until the mixture thickens. This should be in about ten minutes, then continue cooking still in the upper part of the double boiler, over the hot water, for eight more minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from the fire, let cool a little, add the vanilla, stir and pour into moulds or a dish which has been wet with cold water. Let stand in the refrigerator until firm. Unmould in the serving dishes. Pour the sauce over it before serving.

SWEET POTATO PIE

Another request was for sweet potato pie. There are many recipes which answer to this name, but I have selected one I know to be especially good, and have varied it a little.

Cook enough sweet potatoes to make a cupful when mashed. Season this as you season pumpkin for a pie, with one tablespoon table molasses, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one half teaspoon ground ginger, or four fourths teaspoon salt, one egg beaten, a little sugar (depending on taste from one fourth to one half cupful) and enough milk to thoroughly moisten and mix well. This is usually one half to one cup. Mix all together.

Make a rich pastry dough, pour the potato mixture into the crust, do not cover with strips or a top crust. Bake about forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve cold.

The variation which I prefer is to substitute maple syrup for the table molasses, and brown sugar for the granulated sugar. Then when the pie is baked, and ready to serve, lay a strip of stiffly whipped cream down the center of each piece, or if you have a pastry tube, decorate the top with rosettes of the whipped cream. A delicious dessert to end a light winter dinner.

BRAISED CELERY

This version of a very simple but savory dish is French, but it is a welcome variation to the usual vegetables. Trim off the celery tops, leaving stalks about eight inches long, wash carefully but do not separate the stalks. Cover with boiling water and let cook fifteen minutes, then drain and rinse in cold water.

For three or four such heads of celery cut one slice of salt pork in small bits, and sprinkle on the bottom of a casserole. Over the pork slice an onion and half a carrot, then lay the celery, cover and then lay two slices of bacon. On this bed lay the celery, cover and set in the hot oven until moisture forms on the underside of the lid. Then uncover, and pour on one cup of bouillon (from cubes or canned or other prepared form). Cook uncovered still celery is tender, adding more bouillon if needed. Skim fat from the liquid as it forms, taste the celery repeatedly after the bulk of the bouillon has cooked down. Remove celery to a hot serving dish, and pour over it the remaining sauce and vegetables, leaving the bacon behind.

SELL MORE MILK

LONDON—British farmers are consuming less but producing and selling more milk and more milk products in England and Wales. In 1930-31, British farmers produced a total of 1,263,000 gallons of milk compared with 1,117,000 gallons in 1924-25, or an increase of 13 per cent.

It is estimated that if all surplus products were placed end to end they might reach the people who haven't any.

WHEN LUNCHEON IS SERVED

A filling luncheon for family or guests is shown, ready to be served. Crisp, French fried potatoes, delicate ham croquette and tender peas constitute the main course. The salad, served with the luncheon, is composed of grapefruit, pear and chunked peaches on curly lettuce. The bread and butter plate confused things a bit, so it was moved to the left, and out of the picture. But it matches the other plates and contains the needed part of butter and a roll to complete the main part of the menu.

Filling Dishes For Winter Menus

THE old fashioned housekeepers had a name for dishes cooked of two or more ingredients, such as a casserole of stuffed mushrooms, for example. They called such dishes "made dishes."

And some of the old time cooks have fine assortments of such dishes, which by standardizing them, and bringing them up to date, are happy additions to our modern menus.

Green Peppers, Indian Style

One such "made dish" is the following, made with sweet green peppers. Select enough peppers so that each person has at least one. Usually six will fill the full size casserole. Cut off the stems, take out the seeds and stringy insides, and plunge the shells for three minutes into boiling water. If the green shells seem very thick, scrape them a little before they are boiled.

Then stuff them with the following: chop one onion and heat with another chopped green pepper in a tablespoon of curry powder and two tablespoons of shortening, until delicately browned. Add two cups of boiled rice to this mixture and sixteen shrimps (canned and cleaned of their dark vein). The shrimps should be broken into small pieces. Add about half a cup of chicken bouillon (canned), mix, heat, and then stuff into the peppers.

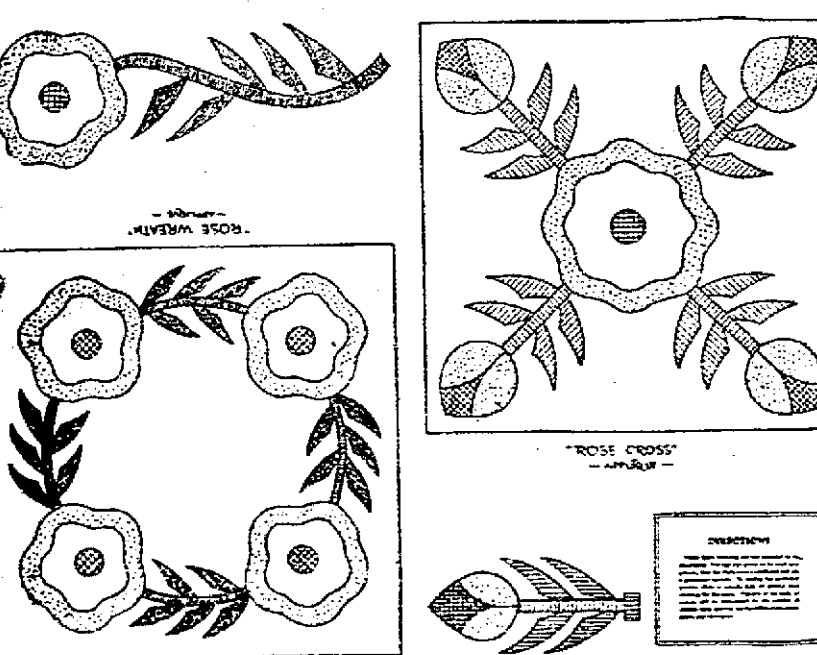

Set the peppers on rounds of toast in the casserole, which has been rubbed with shortening and let bake ten to fifteen minutes in a moderately hot oven. Serve with or without a curry cream sauce. This is made by adding from one teaspoon to three teaspoons of curry powder to one cup of white sauce. The amount of the condiment, depending on personal taste and preference.

Creamed Fish in Potato Casserole
To two cups of seasoned mashed potatoes add two beaten eggs yolk, mix well and shape into rounds or ovals. Dip in egg and bread crumbs. Indent a ring with a fork around the top of each, about half an inch from the edge. Use a frying basket and lower these into hot fat, and fry until golden brown. Cut around the scored line, remove the center, thus leaving a case. Fill these cases with creamed fish, chicken or peas. A delicious substitute for patty shells.

Quick Chicken Pie
With left over or canned chicken, make a rich creamed sauce in a bag mixture. In season, vary it by adding hot creamed oysters to the chicken, or chopped cooked sweetbreads, or chopped sautéed mushrooms. Have ready a small hot earthen dish, one for each person to be served; also have

Over 800 Pretty Patterns in The Herald Wonder Package

Have you sent or called for your Herald Wonder Package? Wouldn't you like to sit right down and start on the above two quilt patterns, both fascinating designs, simple, effective and interesting to make?

These are both appliqued and ideal for pick-up work and either of these patterns would be lovely in two tiers of rose, green and yellow for the center.

Cut-Out Patterns
Out of over 800 patterns (on 12 sheets, each of which measures 24 by 36 inches) the quilt patterns are the only ones which are not to be transferred but instead cut out and used for patterns. This method is much easier for quilt making than transferring, for too many kinds of material are necessary and a "wholesale transfer" idea would be impossible.

If you need a new bed spread, what would be more charming than one with a white or cream background with these roses in rose, yellow or apricot and green?

You would not be disappointed in selecting either of these designs, probably you would want to make them both. You will notice that there are borders for the "Rose Cross" and "Rose Wreath." You may use plain chambray for all of the applied design, fine checked gingham, or tiny polka-dotted materials.

Don't Miss This
That you will want this Wonder Package goes without saying for to deprive yourself of it would mean that you would lack that handy package of many ideas that will last you a life time, and be the answer so many times for presents, useful gifts and beautifying the home. There are designs suited for every need, for painting and embroidering as well, which makes it welcome to man, woman or child.

If you wish the Wonder Package mailed to you it will cost $1.00 with coupon but if you wish to call for it the price is 85c. This may be obtained at The Herald office.

The Circleville Herald. Enclosed please find $1.00 for which I wish you would send me the Herald Wonder Package of over 800 transfer patterns.

Frack Athletes Are Invited To Wesleyan Relay

Local high school track athletes have just received an invitation to participate in Ohio Wesleyan university's second annual High School Relays to be held on Selby field at Ohio Wesleyan, Delaware, on Saturday, April 29.

Last year the Relays attracted 78 entries, of whom more than 500 actually competed. While the meet was conducted as an experiment, it has caused Director of Athletics George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan to repeat the event this year.

Although 52 schools were represented in the meet, the number can be increased this year if necessary, according to Gauthier, because Selby field has facilities for hundreds of contestants. The track is a quarter-mile in circumference, with eight lanes.

MILLER WINS TITLE MATCH

Cincinnati Lad Socks Mexican All Over Ring; Wins All But Three Rounds.

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Fred Miller, a polished article from Cincinnati, kept his world featherweight crown by defeating Baby Arizmendi, a rough diamond from below the border, decisively in 10 rounds at the Olympic club last night before a capacity crowd of 12,000 fans.

The champion outpointed, out-punched and outclassed Arizmendi to win seven rounds. Arizmendi won two, one was even.

Arizmendi started to win the seventh and ninth rounds, much to the momentary delight of about 2000 members of the Mexican colony, come to aid their countryman in his attempt to crash through the portals of the gate marked "world fame."

But aside from his brief flashes, the Mexican was a sorry disappointment, both to himself and to his countrymen. Miller didn't allow him to get started.

Warned that his Mexican opponent would rely on "surprise" to win, Miller was prepared. When he received a blow he gave seven or eight in return. He met with rush, hit harder than Arizmendi, and generally out-battled the Mexican, whose chief asset was his gameness.

The systematic method with which Miller kept flanking his right blow upon Arizmendi's eye and mouth, and the effectiveness with which he brought up his powerful left with a terribly telling swiftness, caused Los Angeles fans to adopt Miller as their own native son.

Plans to hold an independent basketball tournament for central Ohio are being formulated by Ralph Abernathy, Columbus, and Dallas Williams, of Commercial Point, according to an announcement issued Tuesday night.

The tournament is to be divided into two divisions with the Class A entrance fee, being $5, and the Class B fee $3. Prizes are to be awarded to winners of first, second and third position in each division the prize being cash.

The tournament is scheduled to start on March 16 and continue until the teams have gone through the usual tournament routine. No limit has been set as to the number of teams competing in the tournament, and the deadline for entering has been set for March 12 when drawings will be made.

Several classic quintets have already signified their intentions of entering the tourney, and with entry of such teams as, New Holland Kirks, Leader A. C. of Columbus, Williams Grocers of Commercial Point, Shop Rovers of Columbus, Hillcrest A. C. of Columbus, Nehi Maroons of Newark, Nehi Triangles of Newark and the Whitehall A. C. thus far in the class A division, the tournament should be a real one.

Trial Offer At Druggists' On New Mouth-Wash That Saves Half the Usual Costs

It's the year's big news for millions of people who use a mouth-wash—a new antiseptic by makers of Vicks VapoRub—which does everything that any mouth-wash or gargle can and should do at half the cost!

So that people everywhere could prove for themselves the quality and amazing economy of Vicks VapoRub—five million trial bottles were supplied to druggists below cost... a 25c value for 10c! The demand, however, has been enormous and many druggists report that their stocks are exhausted. If your own druggist's supply has gone, do not hesitate to get the regular 10-ounce size of Vicks Antiseptic. It is an even bigger bargain.

Furthermore, every bottle is sold with this positive guarantee: If, after a week's trial, you are not delighted with the quality and the economy of Vicks Antiseptic, return the unused portion and get your money back.

You can use Vicks Antiseptic in your usual way for all your customary uses... to counteract bad breath... as a daily mouth-wash or gargle.

In addition, Vicks Antiseptic has this unique advantage over other quality antiseptics. Born in a depression year, it is priced accordingly... big 10-ounce bottle... a usual 75c value... for only 35c.—Adv.
